

What Is MicroVas Therapy?

MicroVas therapy is the most advanced form of ionic impulse therapy on the market today.

Unlike other forms of electrical stimulation which penetrate only a fraction of an inch and have both positive and negative electrodes on the same surface, MicroVas therapy treatments pass completely through the limb or body area under treatment. The emitter pads are always 180 degrees from each other and are usually placed in multiples to treat an entire limb or body area.